BREAKING: ATTORNEY FOUND DEAD IN DOWNTOWN TOWER

ANCHOR: We begin this morning with breaking news from downtown Port Calder, where police were called to Kessler Tower before dawn. Leah Castellane is there live. Leah?

CASTELLANE: Good morning. I'm standing outside Kessler Tower on Harbor Boulevard, where police and the medical examiner's office have been on scene since just after five this morning. Westmara 8 has learned the man found dead inside is Richard Aldmoor, a senior partner at the law firm Aldmoor & Wexcombe and one of the best-known trial lawyers in the state.

Sources at the scene tell Westmara 8 that Aldmoor was found by a member of the building's cleaning staff on the fourteenth floor, and that he may have fallen while working late in his office. We've also seen investigators from the state's Major Case Squad arrive, which is not unusual in a death involving someone this prominent.

Police have not released any official statement yet. We did try to speak with investigators as they went in. They had no comment.

ANCHOR: A shocking story. Leah, do we know anything about how long he'd been there?

CASTELLANE: Not yet. What we're told is that Aldmoor was known for working long nights. Colleagues are just starting to arrive here this morning, and many of them clearly hadn't heard. We'll stay on this and bring you more as we learn it. Live outside Kessler Tower, I'm Leah Castellane, Westmara 8 News.
